

Madeline Morris

Madeline Morris has been teaching piano, voice and theory for over 20 years. She graduated from the University of British Columbia and has performed as vocal soloist and chorus member in operas and choral concerts in Vancouver, Los Angeles, Toronto, Ottawa and Wales. Ms Morris has been musical director for Windmill Theatre Productions, and for many years has conducted Christmas concerts for Mississauga City Centre Musical Productions. She conducted selected boys from St. Michael`s Choir School for two OMNI-TV Korean-language Christmas specials, directed a children's choir at St. Vincent de Paul School, and conducted a youth choir at a New Year`s Eve gala in the Living Arts Centre. Ms Morris was choir conductor, cantor and organist at Nativity of Our Lord's Parish for over 10 years, and was a cantor and organist at St. Pius X Church, Toronto for past 6 years. She joined St. Michael's Choir School in 2006 and teaches piano, music theory and harmony. Always looking for performance opportunities, Ms Morris founded Ispiravoce Female Chorus to concertize and compete in choral competitions.
